Foreword

O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt His name together. David, Psalms 34:3.

Education at Eastern Nazarene College is God-centered. As the Creator is the end of man, so also is He the means, and everything must begin and end in Him. The study of chemistry, no less than a well-played basketball game, takes on meaning outside of itself when it seeks to promote the glory of God.

E. N. C. has been founded in this dedication to Him. It remains for us, the present student body, to finish the dedication, to give Christ the living worship of our lives.

Let this, the thirty-fifth volume of the Nautilus, then, be a token of the homage we do Him and a pledge of our continuing devotion as we seek in every activity, in every facet of our lives, to be always . . .

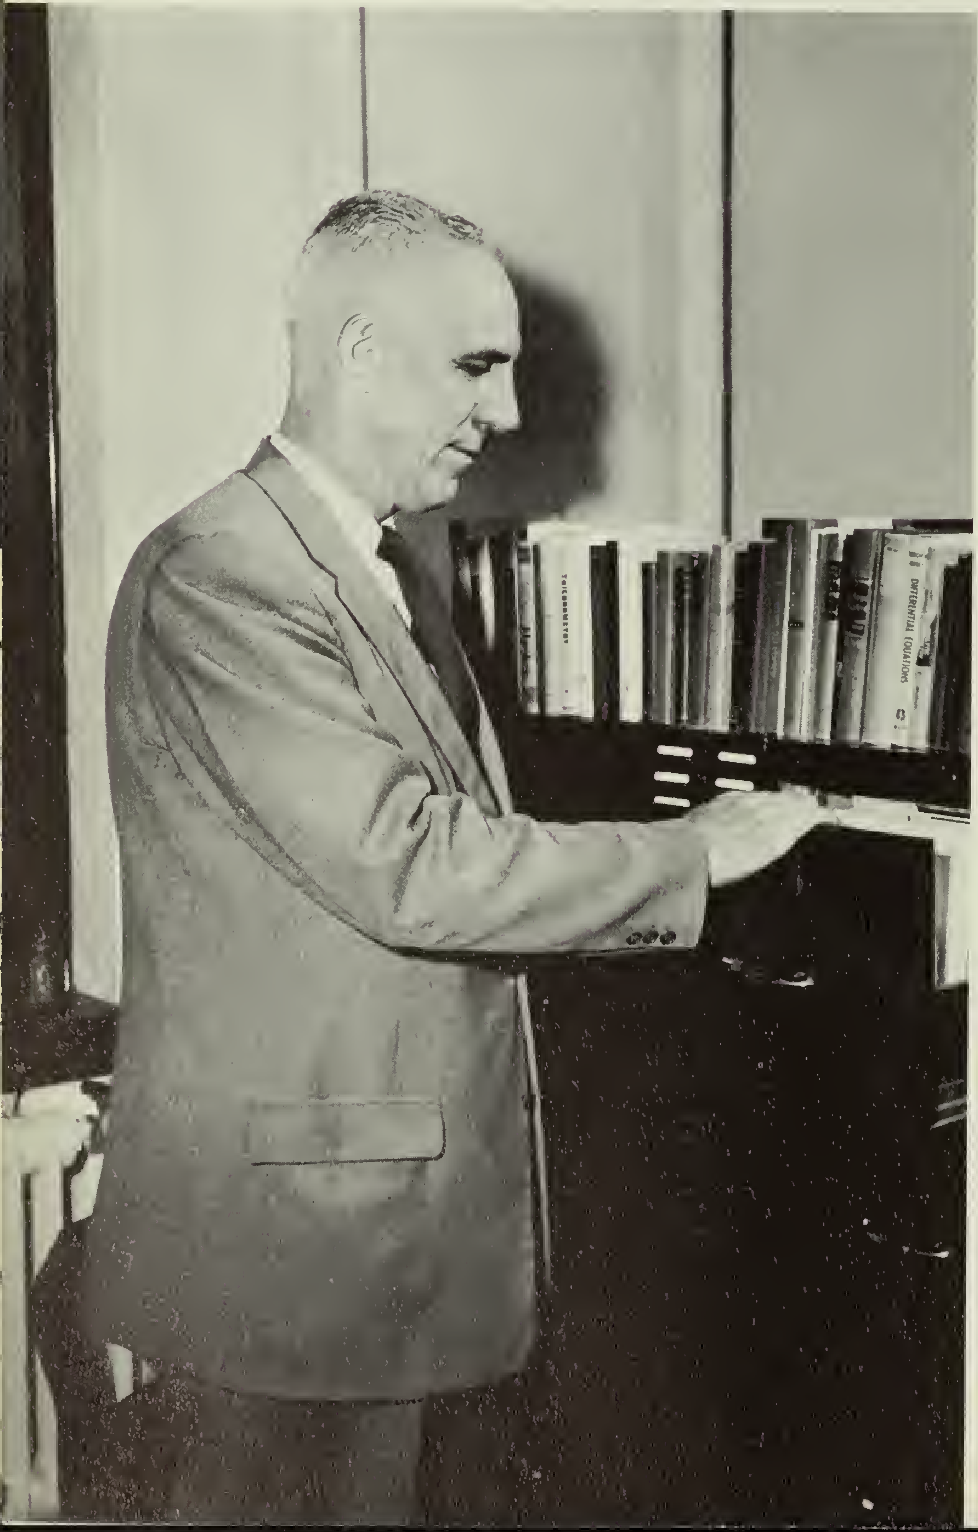
DEDICATION

TO ONE WHO MAGNIFIES THE MASTER . . .



IN TEACHING . . . Who will ever forget his classes? From the first his broad smile inspires your confidence in him. He is so honest and sincere that you have complete faith in his ability to teach. He challenges you to endure the frustration of a problem until the light breaks through. He challenges you to hours of hard work but in such a manner that you cannot help enjoying his classes. From opening prayer to closing assignment he presents a challenge to better Christian living.

IN GUIDANCE . . . Who will ever forget a chat in his office? When you enter his office, all he is doing is forgotten and you become the center of his attention. It is then you realize his understanding, his basic kindness, and his brilliant mind developed through long, lonely hours of self-disciplined study. With sincere patience he discusses your problems—large and small—in the light of the facts at his command. Then, through his vast background of experience he helps you to formulate a solution.

IN EXAMPLE . . . Who will ever forget his Christian life? He testifies in a clean and clear-cut manner. His life has been a willing sacrifice to his Lord. In every phase of his life Christ is pre-eminent. He strives to walk in the footsteps of his Master.

Truly his life—in teaching, in guidance, and in example—magnifies the Master.

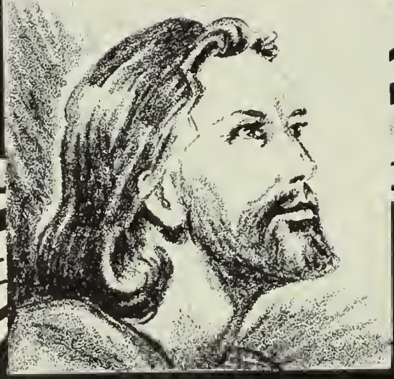
MAGNIFYING the MASTER . . .



By accepting advice, seeking guidance and respecting the authority and wisdom of our leaders we cooperate with them in "Magnifying the Master" in scholastic, spiritual and social activities.

Cooperating with our professors in the classroom, encouraging them by our studious performance, following the examples of our leaders' Christian lives, and sharing fun with them gives us an opportunity to "Magnify the Master" in daily activities.

THE PRESIDENT

President's Message

"Magnifying the Master" is a worthy theme for the 1957 NAUTILUS. It not only presents a challenge to the members of the staff who produce this annual record of college life; it is the highest possible ideal for any student at E. N. C.

It is a source of great satisfaction to the faculty and the administration of the college that this lofty aim has motivated so many students. It is this aim which impels some to choose a Christian college rather than a secular one. Others with this goal in mind have made their choice because of deep conviction despite the wishes of relatives and well-meaning friends. For many this decision has involved financial hardship and long hours of strenuous labor in order to meet the cost of a college education.

Those who have completed their course of study at E. N. C. have refused to give in to physical disabilities, to intellectual fatigue and to social pressure. They have become worthy of praise for their efforts because they have maintained their high purpose.

Some of these have exemplified this aim in their choice of a vocation. Home mission projects have been chosen in preference to churches which paid a larger salary. Sacrifices have been made to assist further education and thus prepare for lives of usefulness in teaching, in nursing, in medicine. The comfort and security of the homeland has been abandoned for the hardships and loneliness of the mission field. Lives have been dedicated to supporting local churches with finances and prayers. So many have given magnificently of life and strength in the upbuilding of the Kingdom of God.

Students of 1956-57 have also taken seriously the task of "Magnifying the Master." They have done it in the classroom, in the dormitory, on the basketball floor, on the job, in the chapel, and in Christian service. It is this ideal which E. N. C. aims to build into the life and character of every one of its students and graduates.

DEAN

As academic head of Eastern Nazarene Dean Bertha Munro confers with students over their tangled schedules and helps them straighten out the impossibilities which always seem to develop on registration day. As a friend and counsellor she takes time out to pray with them over their spiritual struggles and misunderstandings and gives her own sincere testimony to the transforming power of Christ. As a teacher of literature she correlates the best recorded thought of the ages with present day living. In every way Dean Munro constantly emphasizes the value of a Christ-centered education and is an outstanding example of a Christian scholar.

Bertha Munro, A.M.,
Dean of the College

ASSISTANT DEAN

The selection and organization of the college curricula into a working program is but one of the many duties of the Assistant Dean of the college, Dr. Alvin Kauffman. He also represents Eastern Nazarene at conferences, co-ordinates counseling activities, and is active in committee work. He serves as chairman of the Committee of Academic Standing and of the Division of Philosophy and Religion.

Dr. Kauffman's main concern is to be a friend of students. Those who have been helped by his counseling or who have been motivated by his teaching agree that his aim is realized. His sincere and deep devotion to God is exemplified in every phase of his life.

This year has been an especially important one for the Division of Music and Fine Arts as well as for the entire college. On October 23, 1956, the Board of Collegiate Authority of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts voted to grant E. N. C. the authority to confer the degree of Bachelor of Music.

Through our courses in this division our professors have taught us to differentiate between Gothic and Romanesque architecture. We have been introduced to the versatile genius of Leonardo da Vinci and the Cubism of Picasso. We have learned to relate the classical, romantic, and naturalistic tempers in music, art, and letters.

We have experimented with acoustics, practiced our "Hindemath" for Solfeggio, and written our triads, inversions, and sixteenth century counterpoint.

We have enjoyed listening to recordings of Bach's chorale preludes or Debussy's La Mer and attending a rehearsal of The Messiah at Boston Symphony Hall. We have studied the most effective means of conducting choirs, teaching pianoforte, and presenting recitals.

We have grown in artistic appreciation and skills, and have acquired the professional theory and practice to make us more effective educators, churchmen, and laymen.

LETTERS

Our professors in English, Speech, and Foreign Languages have taught us skills and poise and understanding which we will need throughout life. They have pointed the way to more effective communication in speech and writing. They have led us to appreciate the language and the literature of other nations.

Not only have we become familiar with Homeric similes and objective correlatives, but we have also learned to write news leads and letters of application for a given position.

We have become familiar with Greek mythology and Moby Dick, and we have glimpsed the infinite variety and scope of human imagination, thought, and emotions. We have come to reverence human dignity and freedom of choice.

We have studied the anatomy and physiology of the voice and enunciation, but our speech courses have also given us practice in introducing speakers, preparing after dinner speeches, and outlining sermons.

We have learned to translate Spanish and to read German. We have even read Moliere and Don Quixote in their original languages.

We have grown in understanding and appreciation of our heritage and of the culture of other nations of the world.

Helen F. Rothwell, A.M.
Associate Professor of Spanish

Poetry class members compare notes with Dean Munro on the interpretation of one of T. S. Eliot's poems.

PHILOSOPHY and RELIGION

Our professors have held the development of clear thinking and the acquisition of knowledge of Christian truths before us as our objectives this year in our study of philosophy and religion. We have sought to develop that Christian philosophy of life which is essential to the well-integrated personality.

We have studied Biblical and church history. We have read from St. Augustine, St. Thomas, and Schleiermacher. We have compared Luther, Calvin, and Wesley. We have written papers to probe the nature of revelation and to think out the problem of evil. We have discussed details of pastoral responsibility and techniques of sermon preparation. We have attended class seminars, organized informal student debates, and "supplied" in local pulpits.

We have become familiar with philosophical terms and have learned to discuss such men as Kant and Descartes, and ideas such as subjective monism or dualism. We have attended lectures on ethics, logic, aesthetics, metaphysics and mysticism.

We have enjoyed Dr. Culbertson's great lectures, our Th.B. courses, and our fellowship together with our professors. We have been preparing ourselves to serve God and mankind with all our heart and soul and mind.

William Booth's Six Resolutions

He had no money, and he soon discovered that he could only obtain work that he hated in a pawnshop....Soon after he took service with this pawnbroker he wrote six resolutions on a piece of paper, bearing the date December 6, 1849, which was found, faded and worn, among his papers after his death. These are they:

I do promise, my God helping:

That I will rise every morning sufficiently early (say 20 minutes before 7 o'clock) to wash, dress and have a few minutes, not less than five, in private prayer.

That I will endeavor in my conduct and deportment before the world and my fellow servants especially to conduct myself as a humble, meek and zealous follower of the bleeding Lamb, and by serious conversation and warning endeavor to lead them to think of their immortal souls.

That I will read no less than four chapters in God's Word every day

That I will strive to live closer to God, and to seek after holiness of heart and leave providential events with God.

That I will read this over every day or at least twice a week.

God help me, enable me to cultivate a spirit of self-denial and to yield myself a prisoner of love to the Redeemer of the world. Amen and Amen.

Our studies have taught us the discipline of the scientific method. We have learned to observe accurately, to record in detail, and to think clearly without prejudice.

We have prepared for careers in engineering, nursing, medical technology, chemistry and biology. We have looked at the moon through the telescope and the amoebas through the microscope. We have dissected frogs and bisected angles. We have worked with nitriles and amines in organic chemistry; we have made butyl bromide by distillation. We have battled with sines and cosines in trigonometry; we have standardized sodium hydroxide by titration in the chem. lab.

We have developed a greater appreciation for the order, beauty and design of the universe. Our Christian faith has been strengthened by our study of the laws which govern God's creation. Our intellects have been broadened by the investigation and observations in the classroom and in the laboratory.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

In our Social Science courses we have learned about the contrasts in the social behavior of the Trobriand Islanders and the dwellers in the United States. We tried to understand the role of associations in American democratic society, practiced teaching of reading with fellow students, studied the psychological problems of adolescence, considered results of a national bank in establishing a country's economy.

Economics students remember struggling with problems in accounting lab; history majors recall their amazement with Alexis de Tocqueville's critical observation of American democratic society; elementary education majors remember their classmates acting like second graders for practice teaching exercises.

In the various areas of study, history, government, psychology, education, economics, and sociology, we not only memorized dates, governing agencies, various psychoses, methods of teaching, facts about money and banking, and the differences between a church and a sect, but we also learned a little historical background. By considering past and present social problems, we were aided in learning how to interpret current events. By understanding of human nature we learned how to better adjust ourselves to new situations and to other people.

PRACTICAL ARTS and LETTERS

Our two-year PAL course, directed by Prof. Jasper Naylor, has taught us skills helpful in earning a livelihood; it has taught us to be more effective in our Christian service and in our civic relations.

We have had the privilege of studying in the atmosphere of a Christian college, with its advantages of cultural and spiritual emphasis.

We have studied the Old and New Testament, learned to speak and write effectively, considered installment buying. We have thought about the race problem, studied the place of our country in world affairs, learned typing and shorthand.

Our knowledge has increased; our horizons have expanded; our faith has been strengthened by our study at Eastern Nazarene College.

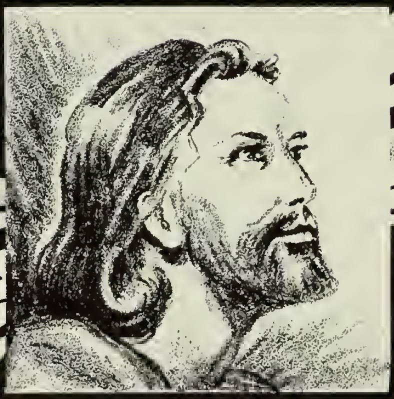
MAGNIFYING the MASTER . . . .



In recreational class activities, outings, parties, and committee meetings, we try to "Magnify the Master" by our sportsmanship, our enthusiastic participation, and our Christian behavior. In weekly class prayer meetings, freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors congregate in individual groups to "Magnify the Master" with prayer and praise. In contacts with our classmates we try to demonstrate friendly interest and Christian concern.

SENIORS

A winter outing at Woodbound Inn in New Hampshire was the recreational highlight for E. N. C. Seniors this year. A Christmas party complete with mistletoe at Dr. Akers' home and semester outings were special senior fun, too.

The final joy of achievement was especially real as we first marched down the aisle in our mortar boards and gowns Junior-Senior Day. And that evening the social whirl of our student days was climaxed by a formal banquet with the Juniors.

With memories of the spiritual inspiration we received in our weekly class prayer meeting, and with our undergraduate preparation for service completed, we accepted our diplomas as keys to Christian stewardship.

Eastern Nazarene College presents ten of her students to WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES. Election to this nationally recognized and distinctive organization is based upon character, scholarship, extra-curricular activities, service to the school, and potentiality for future usefulness in business and society. The honored students are presented with a certificate of recognition and are privileged to wear the official key—a symbol of the most distinctive achievement in college. A biography of each student-elect is included in the current volume of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, a book which serves as a guide for personnel managers who are seeking capable college graduates.

Eastern Nazarene College congratulates and honors her most versatile students. May their future life be as successful and useful as their college life has been.

GRADUATE STUDENTS

Realizing our need for further educational preparation we picked up our books and notebooks again and returned to the classrooms for another year of study.

Whether we enrolled in theology courses for our Th.B. degree or finished practice teaching to fulfill certification requirements, we shared one common purpose—our desire to be better able to serve God and fellowman.

We found ourselves near the top of our college career in this year's activities.

"Great Is The Goodness of God" was the theme of our chapel service commemorating Thanksgiving Day. We packed baskets of food for needy families and realized the thrill of putting our thanks into action. As we listened to our class officers' speeches we found an echo of their words in our own hearts.

For our class outing we drove to Uxbridge, Mass. for a delicious home-cooked spaghetti dinner. The food and fun made this evening an unforgettable one.

And we remember the night when, with the Seniors, we planned a progressive party. Supper in the dining hall, volleyball in the gym, films in the lecture hall—all helped to make this party one of the high spots in our year's activities.

On Junior-Senior day we felt important as we pressed gowns for the Seniors and planned for a festive evening at the Toll House. But as we watched the Seniors march down the aisle in their caps and gowns we were impressed by their sudden special dignity. Suddenly we realized that next year we would be the Seniors.

SOPHOMORES

We returned this year with a new enthusiasm. We told ourselves we'd humble the Frosh just as we had been put in our places last year during initiation. We welcomed the Frosh to E. N. C. in the traditional lively manner and ended Freshman Day with a Freshman-Sophomore prayer meeting.

On our class outing early in October we drove to Faxon Park in Quincy where the boys played football, (the girls tried too) climbed rocks, hiked, sang choruses and, of course, ate outdoors in the crisp Autumn air.

The informal Freshman-Sophomore bañquet held in the college dining hall gave us a chance to get acquainted with the Frosh in a new way.

But we had new duties to perform as a class this year. We decorated the dining hall for the Thanksgiving Day dinner, and some of us volunteered to usher at the special programs throughout the year.

Our first two years at college have been full of excitement and fun, but we anticipated an even better two years as we take our position as upperclassmen.

FRESHMEN

So this was college life! Some of us were surprised. Some were thrilled. And others of us were still stunned after our first few weeks at E. N. C.

We trembled as we stood in line to meet our new profs, but we soon relaxed as we felt the warm handshakes and saw the friendly smiles. We became acquainted with the Sophomores during the bewilderment of initiation. We had to bow to our Sophomore superiors, but we learned that they were our friends who were trying to help us find our place in college.

And then we were taken up with English Comp. themes and Western Civ. assignments, and we forgot our problems and disappointments. Some of us had to battle homesickness or the temptation to drop that extra hard course, but gradually we became a real class united through bonds of common experience. We learned to know each other better through our first outing at Weymouth Park, our class prayer meetings, sharing news in the dorm.

Yes, this was our "green" year at college. We smile at the happy and unhappy memories and dream of the three more years ahead of us.

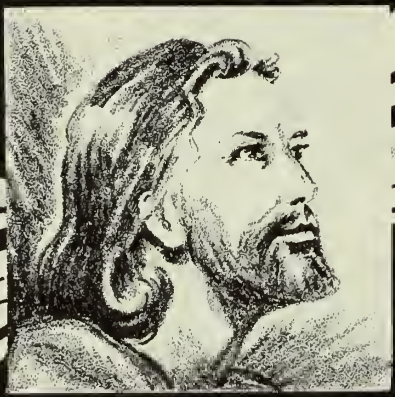
MAGNIFYING the MASTER . . .



Rising for Sunday worship services each Sabbath morning sets the atmosphere for "Magnifying the Master" on the sacred day of rest at our Christian college.

Observing reverence in worship, participating in praise services, attending chapel with our classmates, and meeting God alone in the prayer room, we "Magnify the Master" in our worship.

COLLEGE

Rev. J. Glenn Gould, D.D., Pastor

PASTOR'S MESSAGE

My dear Friends:

What is an adequate motive for spending four of the best years of one's life in a college such as this, giving one's best effort to study? Some do it because they regard it as the thing to do; it is the approach to life which their set approves. Others do it to increase earning power and thus enhance their prospects of what the world calls success. Still others do it for the sheer love of learning.

But all of these motives leave something to be desired, however valid within limits they may be. They all leave out of account any reference to the One under whose all-seeing eye all of life is being lived. Indeed, the only adequate motive is stated most succinctly by the great Christian Apostle Paul when he said (in 2 Timothy 2:15), "Study to shew thyself approved unto God." It may be that St. Paul was not thinking of study in the sense of poring over books or listening to lectures or spending busy hours in a laboratory. In fact, the Apostle's admonition might well be rendered, "Do thine utmost to shew thyself approved unto God." Thus, it refers to the whole business of living. But that includes this work of preparation which we know as study. And the only adequate motive for thus applying oneself is to please and glorify God.

Let this be your motive, dear friends, as you pursue an education. It will fit you for living the truly good life, and will guarantee success of the noblest and most worthy sort.

Faithfully yours,

J. Glenn Gould

Rev. Floyd O. Flemming, Assistant Pastor

CHURCH

The Church Choir under the direction of Paul I. Willwerth, Choir Director.

The Wollaston Church of the Nazarene provides complete worship facilities for the students at E. N. C. Although it is a community church, many students become associate members while they are at E. N. C.

A special emphasis on the Sunday School program this year has stimulated attendance surpassing rally day goals. Wednesday evening prayer meetings and revivals as well as Sunday worship services with pastors Dr. J. Glenn Gould and the Rev. Floyd Flemming, have contributed to the spiritual growth of all E. N. C.-ers.

NYPS

The inspirational emphasis of the program of the Nazarene Young People's Society in the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene provided genuinely spiritual emphasis for E. N. C.-ers this year. A Lamplighter's League service, with burning candles and the prayer "May I Light the Way For Someone," presented the challenge of witnessing to each young person.

Devotion to witnessing and Christian living was stimulated by participation in N.Y.P.S. sponsored student prayer cell groups.

Program features have included "Devil-Net," a parody on "Dragnet," a program presented by faculty members, society specials like "His Name Shall Be Called," and a program presented by the high school Hi-N.Y. group. Dr. Timothy L. Smith delivered a special Thanksgiving talk.

After-church singspiration programs and the annual Christmas caroling were Sunday night highlights directed by the N.Y.P.S.

The Rev. Sammy Sparks was the special speaker at the Spring weekend revival sponsored by the N.Y.P.S.

Opening Convention—Rev. C. D. Taylor, Superintendent, Akron District Church of the Nazarene, Sept. 13-16, 1956

As we walked along the paths from our classrooms to chapel we were glad for the hour of inspiration and meditation to brighten our busy days. Chapel began with Dr. Mann leading students and faculty in a song of praise.

This year during our special chapel services we have appreciated the emphasis on growth in grace by Rev. Taylor, the challenge to effective Christian witnessing of Rev. Gilliland, the psychological implications of religion explained by Dr. Culbertson, the vivid war experiences of ex-chaplain Moore, and the profound doctrinal insight of Rev. Logan.

"We are fellow helpers to the truth." III John: 8. This year the members of the Evangelistic Association have dedicated themselves to "learn truth, live truth, teach truth." The practical Christian service in which this group has engaged is dedicated to leading men and women, boys and girls to the Person of Truth, Jesus Christ.

Eleven mission groups have held services in five missions in the city of Boston. Each Saturday and Sunday young laymen get practice in conducting song services, singing duets, trios, and solos and witnessing for Christ. The young men preparing for the ministry receive ample opportunity to preach. However, the purpose of these services is not primarily to gain experience in Christian service but to win souls for Christ.

Sunday afternoons the students form two choirs which visit Quincy City Hospital as well as four nursing homes in the city of Quincy.

ASSOCIATION

These choirs bring cheer to the shut-ins by singing familiar gospel songs.

Many of the Association's members work in the Boston Nazarene Chapel in the south end of Boston. This year the Chapel averaged ninety in Sunday School. Saturday afternoons the Chapel teachers conducted a full-scale Caravan program.

Visitation groups have been active both in the Wollaston area and in South Boston. The groups have rung doorbell after doorbell while canvassing and inviting people to special services.

Special projects of the Association this year have been a special offering of $85 for aiding the Chapel in defraying the costs of its new building, the obtaining of fifty new books for the hospital choirs, and the buying of a new carry-all.

STUDENT FOREIGN MISSIONARY FELLOWSHIP

"Put ye in the sickle for the harvest is ripe. There are multitudes in the valley of decision." Joel 3:13

The Student Foreign Missionary Fellowship is endeavoring to obey this command of the Lord through the many available channels at E. N. C. The Society aims to acquaint each student on the campus with the work of our church's missionaries and to support them in every way possible.

Realizing that the greatest need of missionaries is prayer, the missionary society has sponsored the Thursday prayer and fasting service as well as the regular society prayer meeting after dinner. To back these services up they have drawn up individual prayer charts every two weeks and have kept prayer request boxes in the dormitory prayer rooms. In the Christmas cards, which they send annually to the missionaries, they enclosed small forms on which the missionaries could send back requests. These have kept the prayer boxes alive.

The greatest event of the year is the Missionary Workshop. Missionaries returned from their fields speak in chapel and take over the classes, relating aspects of their work to the material being taught in the courses. Individual conferences with missionaries as well as informal contacts in the dining hall, the parlor, or in the Dugout, give each student an opportunity to know what these ambassadors of Christ are really like.

During the year the missionary society has shipped to foreign fields hundreds of pounds of used clothing, clean and in good condition. This is of vital importance to the work on the fields. Several hundred dollars have been taken up in the special services to help support visiting missionaries.

STUDENT MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

The Student Ministerial Association, through its program, has endeavored to supply fellowship, inspiration, practical knowledge and preaching experience for all students who feel the call of God to proclaim the Gospel.

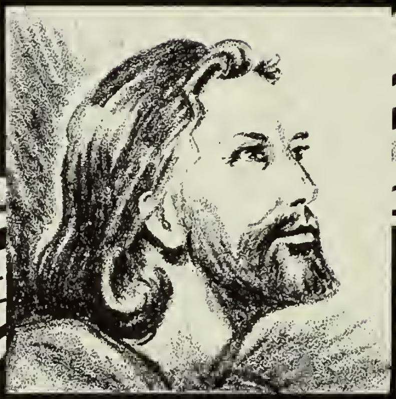
This year the president, Donald Long, and the advisor, Rev. Floyd Flemming, worked together to provide a balanced schedule of instruction experience in ministerial duties.

Student ministers held revivals and youth week meetings in the Nazarene Churches throughout the Boston Zone.

At their meetings the future pastors discussed various aspects of the minister's duties as well as his responsibilities and problems. In the fall, Dr. Paul Culbertson of Pasadena Nazarene College spoke to the students about the pastor's relationships in the Church and during the second semester, Rev. J.S. Logan from London, England, spoke and shared his experiences with the group.

In the spring the Association held their annual banquet followed by a special speech.

MAGNIFYING the MASTER . . .



Like all college students, we E. N. C.-ers enjoy good times. With the fun of Christian fellowship we find opportunity to "Magnify the Master"—by our behavior when we are with our friends, when we discover the spiritual thrill of Handel's Messiah, when we laugh together at a humorous incident.

From the enrichment we find in an artist's interpretation of Chopin's "Polanaise," to the enthusiasm we share cheering our team to victory, we may "Magnify Christ" in our student life.

SENIOR TRIP SONG

Tune: "I'm Looking Over A Four Leaf Clover."

We're looking over our trip to Woodbound
With memories like these,
Skiing and skating, tobogganing too,
Hiking and sleighing and playing Rook too—ooh!
The food was tremendous, the sleep stupendous
Wish I had forty winks more.
We're looking over our trip to Woodbound,
With memories galore!

The ski tow was helpful 'till Mr. Akers
Grabbed the emergency flag.
Norma was graceful as she hit the gound.
George ripped his ski pants the first time around.
June tried the skating, and hit the ice.
Bill K. had a built in sled.
Toboggans were speeding amid the screaming
And Don and Doug took a spill.

We went a hiking to the Cathedral
But Wes and Luine dropped out.
Lois just made it—the Haucks lagged behind.
Thomas and Beverly were climbers sublime.
Sleigh bells were ringing, the kids were singing,
But what about Doris and Clyde?
Odds, ends and couples and Bill and Sarah,
But Janet stayed home and dreamed.

Stetson kept eating and Lashly repeating
Waitress how about some more?
Seconds were brought us and we almost died
When Gressett refused them we couldn't believe our eyes.
Gloria so quiet, and Barb a riot,
Bea and Irva sacked in late.
JoAnn with her cane kept hobbling along
And got plenty of help from the boys.

Cameras were flashing when Lehto was near
Everyone was in the spotlight
Except Fred and Hazel who were away from the throng.
And Doris and Glady were playing ping-pong.
Connie and Ginger were up to tricks
When suitcases came up missing.
Whitehead played chess,
And Pat you can guess,
Just dreamed about Howie Brooks.

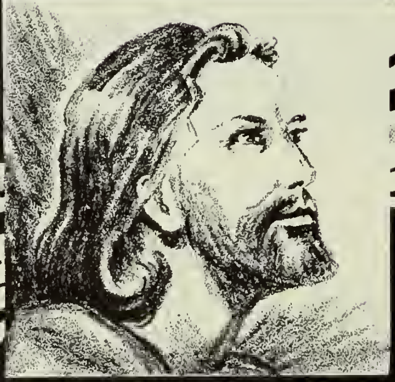
MAGNIFYING the MASTER . . . .



This year we have shared the fellowship and responsibility involved in making our organizations successful. We have written headlines for the Campus Camera, planned decorations for the Valentine Formal, and rehearsed new numbers with the A Cappella Choir. We have discovered the satisfaction that comes in doing our best, in cooperating with others to achieve a goal. Through our organizations we have endeavoured to "Magnify the Master."

President Babe Chambers and Vice-President Sarah Cleckner check over the files.

The Student Council this year has lived up to its responsibilities as the representative and governing agency of the student body of E. N. C. Under the direction of Howard Chambers, the Council has been active all year.

Early in the year the Council sponsored the organization of a Democratic and a Republican party on campus.

E. N. C.'s girls worked for days concocting original hats for their dates to the Mad Hatter Halloween party. Scary spooks and weird witches added atmosphere to the eerie ghost walk, a feature of the party.

A new system of closing hours which emphasized the week nights as times for study and gave more time for recreation and social life on the weekends went into effect, sponsored by the Student Council.

The Council proposed a plan to suspend classes the Friday after Thanksgiving Day, giving the students a long weekend vacation. They also suggested changing the dates of the Christmas vacation in order to provide more time for pre-holiday work. Both of these plans were approved and adopted by the Administration.

Silver bells tinkled gaily as students and faculty members enjoyed the informal Christmas party. A Valentine formal gave the girls a chance to dress up in their daintiest gowns for dinner and a program at the American Legion Hall in Wollaston.

Other projects of the Council have been the formulation of a code of library ethics, the adoption of compulsory class dues and the revision of the constitution.

Secretary Ronnie Mickel and Treasurer Clyde Haas served the student body this year.

THE

In spending four years at E. N. C., students cannot help but acquire many memories that they will cherish after graduation. The '57 Nautilus staff has dedicated its' talents to capturing the best moments of this year at E. N. C., and now presents you with a tangible record of them. It is our hope that this book will serve as a stimulus to help you recall your life at E. N. C. in years to come.

After the basic plan for this book was determined early last fall, the staff went to work—and there fol-

The debate program at E. N. C. is designed to stimulate intellectual activity arising from persuasiveness, use of logic, and adaptation, as well as learning about a topic of current significance such as this year's question dealing with foreign economic aid.

All over the eastern seaboard debaters attend tournaments which afford opportunities to match wits with the finest teams in the country.

This year emphasis has been placed on an expanded novice program for beginning debaters, as well as on varsity debating, which has earned for E. N. C. recognition among the largest schools in New England.

GREENBOOK

Freshman are given opportunity to display their literary talents in the preparation of their annual publication, The Greenbook.

The best themes written for the English composition classes are selected for publication. The Greenbook also includes a popularity poll, news of freshman sports, humor, and other features.

This year the theme for the Greenbook was "Footsteps." Footsteps to the church, the Ad Building, and the Dugout introduced sections of themes dealing with spiritual, scholastic and social aspects of student life.

A CAPPELLA

Thirty-six voices under the direction of Professor Greg Larkin make up E. N. C.'s A Cappella Choir.

This year the schedule of the choir included concerts in various churches and schools of Massachusetts. The proceeds from these appearances helped to pay for the new red and gray choir robes with reversible collars.

For A Cappella members the high point of the year was their tour during Spring Vacation. For thirteen days the choir gave concerts in churches throughout Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland, and Connecticut.

GLEE CLUB

Newly organized this year, the Men's Glee Club provided color as well as music whenever they made their appearances. Dressed in white tuxes with plaid accessories this versatile group sang at both campus political rallies and the Christmas Chapel program. Under the direction of Professor Greg Larkin the Glee Club represented E. N. C. at a city wide revival in Providence, Rhode Island, Park Street Church in Boston and at various Nazarene churches in the New England area.

Members of the Honor Society are elected in June. Any students who were full members in previous years are made associate members. The purpose of the Honor Society is to encourage students to give the best of their time and effort to studies and to maintaining a high scholastic standing.

Students eligible for membership must carry no fewer than 12 hours each semester. No grade below B- can be earned. An average of at least 2.3 quality points for each hour of major work is required before a student can become a member.

HOUSE COUNCIL

A Welcome Back party in January for Mrs. Williamson was the special project of the House Council this year.

To maintain discipline and order in the girl's dormitories is the main function of the Council. Any complaints or suggestions are brought before the Council.

The Open House program was planned by the Council and prizes were awarded for the most orderly and collegiate rooms.

The parlor was made cheery at Christmas with the paintings on the windows.

Probably the most important duty of the council is taking charge of the Sunday After-Dinner Prayer Meetings. Singing, testimonies and prayers make these times a highlight in the Sunday's activities.

Tomorrow's doctors and nurses have founded their own association at E. N. C. this year. The Pre-Medical Association includes all students who are seriously considering medicine and its related fields as a career possibility. This past year the group viewed films and listened to interns and specialists relate their experiences in medicine. They also toured nearby medical institutions. Under the leadership of Dr. Calvin Maybury, faculty advisor, and David Blachly, president, the association started as a project the assembling of information on the various medical schools in the country for the use of all students who take pre-medical studies at E. N. C.

During the past year the walls of the back room of the Mansion have echoed with the sounds of E. N. C. men straining their muscles to lift pairs of barbells from one place to another. The newly founded organization, the Physical Culture Club, is equipped with basic weight-lifting equipment and plans to purchase more each year. Several inter-school weight-lifting meets were high points in the club's activities. This group helps keep E. N. C. men in top physical condition and relieves the tensions of a crowded scholastic life.

E. N. C.'s literature and speech enthusiasts combined their talents to plan a year of varied activities. Under the guidance of Dean Bertha Munro and Prof. Louise Dygoski the club council centered their monthly meetings around the interpretation and enjoyment of good literature.

Early in the fall the club toured the North Shore including Hawthorne's House of Seven Gables. Members compared their versions of short story endings with those of various authors at one meeting. Featured this year were the oral interpretation of a modern play and trips to Harvard and Boston University to attend literary programs and lectures. A Christmas party with a literary flavor was one of the highlights of the holidays.

A field trip to the Danvers State Hospital highlighted the activities of the Psychology Club this year. Making these trips were those majoring in psychology and others who are especially interested in this field.

Other activities during the year were interesting films and lectures dealing with the psychological problems of marriage and childhood. At club meetings members also discussed the problems and cases they discovered during their visits to the mental hospitals and clinics.

The main objective of the Psychology Club is to stimulate a live interest in psychology within the student body at the practical level.

The E. N. C. greenhouse was the focal point for the activities of the Biology Association. Under the direction of their advisor Prof. Verner Babcock, this club assumed the responsibility for the care of the campus grounds including all floral displays. This practical experience complemented the facts and theories learned in the classroom and laboratory.

Special project for this year was the planting of a garden containing every plant species adaptable to the soil in this locality. The club program featured fishing and camping trips, outside speakers, and field trips to Boston museums. Students also worked on their projects for biology classes in conjunction with club activities.

BIOLOGY ASSOCIATION

CHEMISTRY ASSOCIATION

The Chemistry Association is organized to stimulate interest in the broadening horizons of Chemistry and technology. Students considering careers in chemistry learned more about the opportunities and developments in all branches of the field at the bi-monthly meetings.

Each meeting featured a special speaker or film. Guest lecturers from M. I. T., Boston University, and Tufts presented informative lectures at club meetings. Several interesting films relating to the field of chemistry were shown during the year. Club officers planned visits to the chemical plants and laboratories of the Eastern Gas and Fuel Association, Monsanto Chemical Company, and the Esso Refinery. Members also enjoyed a Christmas party held during the holidays.

From all parts of the globe come many students to Eastern Nazarene. Whether they come from homes just across the border in Canada or halfway around the world in Africa, each student contributes an essential part to the culture at E. N. C.

Twenty-eight Canadians are enrolled in courses at the college. Ireland has sent three students to our campus. Other countries represented are: Formosa, Lebanon, Bermuda, Egypt, Puerto Rico, and Africa. These young people who have come from beyond our shores are welcomed to E. N. C. and encouraged to participate with us in all our activities. The college's influence extends to many areas of the globe as these students return to places of service.

The purpose of the Future Teachers Association, under the direction of Prof. Rolland Parsons, advisor, is to keep its members informed as to up-to-the-minute methods of and aids to teaching.

During the year the club had several outside speakers including Doctor Paul Culbertson, psychologist from Olivet Nazarene College and William Heiseer from the Perkins Institute for the Blind. Each year the association has one special project. This year the project was the presenting of a Friday evening program for the entire school. Besides their other activities, the association members visited several points of historical interest.

BOWNE PHILOSOPHICAL

Philosophy is an attempt to understand our total experience by means of rigorous, consistent, and coherent thinking. What could be more exciting and practical? Philosophy is an adventure over wide and rough seas, but it makes many new discoveries and helps to dissipate the fears of the unknown.

The purpose of the Bowne Philosophical Club is to promote interest in the philosophical quest. In the fulfillment of this purpose the society used talented speakers from our own campus and brought distinguished speakers from Boston University and Harvard.

An informal evening at the home of their faculty advisor, Prof. Wilbur Mullen, proved that fun, philosophy and fellowship are not incompatible.

LAS ESTRELLAS

From greeting one another with "Buenos Dias" rather than "good morning" to learning how much fun a pinata may make a party, "Las Estrellas" reveal their distinct character.

Singing carols "In Espanol," enjoying Mexican cocoa (cinnamon spiced), and conversing in the language of the majority of the southern neighbors of the U. S. are featured activities of Spanish Club enthusiasts. Club members are reminded of the academic value of study of modern languages in discussions such as one on teaching of languages in high school. Seeing films and travelogues broaden their horizons to include knowledge of customs and geography as well as language.

The theme of this year's Kappa Rush Day display was "smooth sailing on the Kappa Mayflower." The ship attracted twenty-six freshmen.

Traditional Kappa-Sigma Rivalry took a back seat to joint entertainment and participation one night at the Whittinsville Y.M.C.A. A spaghetti dinner and a brief vitalized program made the evening a success.

The Kappa N.Y.P.S. program centered around the theme of "Christ and the Masterpieces." The spirit and loyalty of the society in all activities seemed to bear out the fact that "Once a Kappa, always a Kappa."

On Rush Day 57 enthusiastic freshmen joined the Sigma Society with the promise of "Showers of fun with Sigmas."

"Faculty Fables" was presented in October to honor professors and administrative officials who have contributed years of service to E. N. C.

The Fall outing consisted of a spaghetti dinner followed by swimming and other sports. A devotional emphasis rounded out a fine evening of fellowship.

Rush Day displayed a "whale" of a chance with Zeta.

"Jonah and the Whale" set the theme for this year's Zeta Rush Day display, which attracted forty-five new members.

The Society's activities this year were highlighted by semester outings. Barbecued chicken, straw, and guitar music made Stoneham memorable.

Participation in Society prayer meetings and presentation of "His Name Shall Be Called" were special spiritual experiences for the green and gold.

MAGNIFYING the MASTER . . . .

In the Fall we ran, passed, and blocked in the clear, cool air. In the winter we raced down the court to sink a lay-up shot or played a tight zone defense that kept our opponents from scoring. We played hard trying our best to win. But, we played fair and clean and worked together as a team, because, on the court or on the field, we were always striving to "Magnify the Master."

"N" CLUB

"N" Club membership is based upon character, scholarship, leadership, and athletic ability. Students are eligible who have attended E. N. C. for at least three semesters and have excelled in the major society sports: football, volleyball, basketball, and softball.

The "N" Club sponsored projects that benefitted the whole school and improved the athletic program. The members had all of the trophies properly engraved and bought a new wall clock for the gymnasium.

The duty of the "N" Club is to sell tickets to all society and college basketball games. The money received from the ticket sales this year was especially used to help finance the new sweat uniforms of the E. N. C. "Crusaders."

The new members this year were chosen by the previous members of the "N" Club and were announced at a special chapel service.

Tickets were sold by the "N" Club at all games.

Crusaders' Captain Gerald Lashley leads the team out as they display new uniforms that the "N" Club helped purchase.

FOOTBALL ALL-STARS

The 1956 version of the All Star Team is one which packs plenty of speed, power, and skill. This year's team is made up of three Sigmas, two Deltas, and one Kappa.

The All Stars are chosen by the four society coordinators with the aid of Dean Bradley.

FOOT

With Fall comes football season, and the accompanying cheers, and yells penetrating the crisp, frosty air. This season was one of surprises from the very start. In the first game the Sigmas, who were the favored team, tied with the Kappas 6-6. As the football season progressed, the Sigmas were at the top and the Deltas, Kappas, and Zetas followed in that order.

The Sigmas proved their superiority by winning over the Deltas 20-6 in the rain and the mud. After the Deltas had beaten the Kappas 28-7 the final game between the Sigmas and the Deltas loomed as the "big game."

BALL

But, to the dismay of the Deltas, the Kappas were still of some authority and they showed it as they displayed terrific fight and spirit by whipping the Deltas 14-6. Thus the Deltas were eliminated and the Sigmas became champions for the second straight year.

After the regular season play, something new was added. The Sigmas accepted the challenge of a tri-society All Star Team. The game was tight as the lead changed hands several times, but the Sigma teamwork paid off and the Sigmas walked off the field with a 27-24 victory.

E.N.C.

A roar from the opening game crowd at Providence Barrington Bible College greeted the Crusaders as they came out on the floor clad in their brilliant red and white uniforms. In this game, the Crusaders did a thorough job of proving that their ability matched their brilliant uniforms as they outclassed P.B.B.C., 93-69.

The return game with P.B.B.C. at Quincy gym proved to be no more of a contest as all thirteen Crusaders scored. When the cheers had died away, the Crusaders emerged 92-58 victors.

Jerry Lashley goes up all alone for two points at P.B.B.C.

Two more for E. N. C.—thanks to Ray Sharpes.

Merritt Mann watches expectantly after his shot at Eastern Baptist.

CRUSADERS

For the next game E. N. C. traveled to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, to play Eastern Baptist College. After overcoming new-floor-strangeness the Crusaders felt at home and won impressively, with a 94-52 score.

To their 3-0 record, the Crusaders added wins over New England School of Theology 115-62, Gordon 95-56, and Alumni 86-65. Coach Bradley's men proved to be consistent victors throughout the season.

The P.B.B.C. players are not fast enough as Lashley scores two more points.

Dave Hutchinson tips in a rebound over the head of a E.B.C. player.

Smith drives in for a lay-up shot despite the vain efforts of P.B.-B.C. defender.

BOYS'

Society basketball began its '57 season with every society having new hopes and new talent to strengthen its attack. On "tip-off night," some aspirations were shattered and some were encouraged. In most cases the new players could not match the experience of the tested veterans. In the first game, the Zetas defeated a fighting Delta squad by the scant margin of 40-39 and in the second game, the Kappas surprised a good Sigma team 54-38. The "tip-off night" games seemed to forecast the general trend of society

The Kappas and the Sigmas were seen as the teams to beat as they both fought off the bids of the Zetas and the Deltas. In their second meeting, the Sigmas evened the standings by defeating the Kappas 44-39.

However, in the third game, the Kappas proved to be the better team by winning 56-47 and taking over undisputed possession of first place.

VOLLEYBALL

This year's volleyball season has featured high society spirit among all the players. Team work and brilliant playing sparked all the games. The Sigmas combined plenty of this spirit and team work to take the championship. The Zetas were close behind, and the Deltas followed by winning a close fight for third place against the Kappas.

For added interest and excitement, the three societies challenged the Sigmas to a volleyball game. The tri-society All Stars started off well by winning the first game, but the Sigmas began to show their championship playing as they went on to win the next two games.

With the aid of Dean Bradley, the four co-ordinators picked the first girls' all-star volleyball team. The champion Sigmas placed four players on the team, the Zetas contributed three players, and the Deltas completed the team with one player.

GIRLS'

The volley net and ball are put away for another year. This means only one thing to the girl athletes at E. N. C.—basketball.

The addition of promising freshmen to strengthen their teams was anticipated by all four societies and they were not disappointed. In the nine game season, the Sigma and Zeta teams proved to be superior as they staved off the bids of the Kappas and Deltas.

The outstanding players of each society were picked for the girls' all star team, and they had a chance to play against the tougher competition from other schools and colleges. Coach Bradley's girls played two games with Providence Barrington Bible College and two games with Gordon College. They played single games with Suffolk University, New England Baptist Hospital, and the alumnae. The team was composed of six Sigmas, four Zetas, four Kappas, and two Deltas.

After suffering the "opening game jitters," the girls did a very effective job of avenging this defeat by P.B.B.C. in their second game.

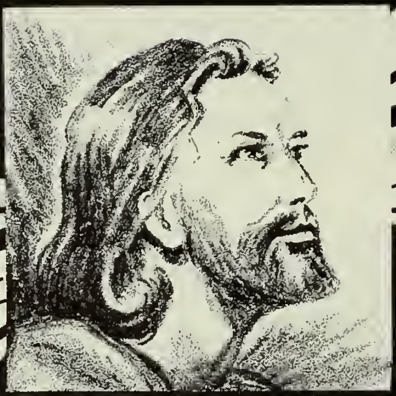
MAGNIFYING the MASTER . . .



Students in any college appreciate the services provided by their home church and by the business establishments in the college community. At Eastern Nazarene we have many daily contacts with business people in Wollaston and Quincy.

In these contacts we have opportunity to "Magnify the Master." By our conduct, we witness to the druggist, to the service station attendant, and to the clerks at the five and dime, and thus have an opportunity to win others to Christ.

Ever been snowbound by yearbook problems?

The Keller yearbook team will dig you out fast. Keller's experienced art department is always ready with apt solutions to yearbook problems. Another big reason why so many customers come back year after year—and why they seem to get into the habit of winning top national awards.

Wm. J. Keller Inc.

Publishers of Finer Yearbooks

33 Clarence Avenue Buffalo 15, New York

THIS yearbook has created a special set of memories for each member of the staff. Expressing our ideas creatively involved work, planning, and attention to detail.

However, this yearbook became a reality through the combined efforts of many people besides the immediate staff. Our thanks go to those who gave us special help: Ed and Jack Percy of Miller Studios, Ross Farnham and Jewell Gates of Keller Publishers, Dr. Alvin Kauffman, Prof. Alice Spangenberg, and to all advertisers whose assistance made this 1957 Nautilus financially possible.
